We will say that, upon a close examina

We will say that, upon a close examination of this last overpayment, your committee will find that the first estimate of the County Engineer, $184, dated August 29, 1873, was settled in full by the payment to August Oberman of commissioners' warrant No. 179, dated August 29, 1878, for $187 50, and the last estimate dated as above is receipted by Adolph Yacke as having been paid in full August 29, 1878. But a month after the work was all finished and the last estimate settled in full, a commissioners' warrant, No. 266, dated September 30, 1878, was lasued, payable to Charles II. Delters for Adolph Yacke or order for $169 40, and charged to the same account. We find no order of the Board allowing the payment of this to Adolph Yacke, nor do we find any receipt the Board allowing the payment of this to Adolph Yacke, nor do we find any receipt or receipted bill showing the payment of this amount to Adolph Yacke. The County Engineer, W. C. Smith, says he gave ne estimate to Yacke for the payment of any sum to him on account of the River road, after the one furnished August 29, 1878. The commissioners' warrant has been paid by the Sheriff and returned by him to the Board along with other commissioners' warrants, and we returned by him to the Board along with other commissioners' warrants, and we submit it herewith for your inspection.

Elections are generally very expensive, but we find from the way the Board of Commissioners have been paying election bills, as presented to them, the Board makes them more costly than the law contemplated they should be; for lustance, the county paid as election expenses in October and November, 1880, the sum of $1.430 90; and if the bills had been properly examined and paid according to the election law of the State, the amount would not have exceeded $840 65, thereby showing that the county paid $587 25 more than the proper amount to the offi-

The Sheriff in order to get proper credit on his account for the amount paid by him for the county, presents the Com-missioner's warrants and an itemized statement of the amount of such warrants statement of the amount of such warrants and the interest paid upon them. The interest statement is made up from percell memorandums made upon the warrants by the Sheriff and his deputies. We would suggest that a different method for the payment of interest be adopted by your committee. Under the present method, one that has prevailed for years past, the county has no proper cheek upon the one that has prevailed for years past, the county has no proper check upon the payment of interest. Through some mistake or otherwise the county may often have been compelled to pay interest when it should not be charged much less paid.
